Kitchin opens on Edinburgh's Waterfront

The Kitchin restaurant has opened on Leith's waterfront, showcasing Chef Tom Kitchin's unique marriage of seasonal Scottish produce with the classical French techniques he has mastered working alongside some of the world's greatest chefs.

Edinburgh-born Kitchin, who spent more than a decade working alongside some of the world's most famous chefs, spent nearly five years working for Pierre Koffmann in the three-Michelin-starred La Tante Claire in London. Kitchin also worked at the three-star Restaurant Guy Savoy in Paris, and spent two years at Alain Ducasse's Louis XV restaurant in Monte Carlo.
